

Week Commencing Final Updates

@Jason

Progress on assigned tasks: All assigned tasks are complete, and I'm confident we're approaching final submission readiness. The documentation, diagrams, and testing plans are in place, and I've ensured that my contributions are aligned with the module criteria.

Any blockers or challenges: N/a

Any help needed from others: I'll need support reviewing the final submission ZIP file to confirm everything is included and formatted correctly.

My plan for the week: I will review the final submission package to ensure it meets all assessment criteria. I'll also be refining any outstanding documentation and assisting with proofreading where needed.

Progress on assigned tasks: All my assigned design and frontend testing are completed with the help from Mark and Jason. I have finalised the admin panel flow, feedback/analytics elements, and ensured usability and navigation logic align with our original design goals and module requirements.

Any blockers or challenges: Abroad and have an unstable wifi connection.

Any help needed from others: Just a final round of group review to ensure consistency across all sections.

My plan for the week: Support the final ZIP package (Summative 4) review and complete my final individual report (Summative 2).

Other: Really pleased with how the project has come together...thank you everyone!
